FATE AND ANDREW JACKSON.

What Going West, Not East, Meant to the Fiery Lawyer.

During the young manhood of Andrew Jackson, when he rode the circuit in Tennessee, knowing more law than most of his brethren at the bar, afraid of nothing on earth, ready to challenge to a duel some trained lawyer from the older settlements when that lawyer trespassed upon his own preserves and made fun of his ignorance—as Waightstill Avery did—thus holding his ground against all comers, partly by brute force and partly by mental superiority, he was probably nearer to happiness than he ever was afterward.

From court to court he rode his race horse, pistols in holsters, carrying his gun and his pack of hounds, ready for the courthouse, ready for the deer chase, ready for the shooting match, ready for the horse race, ready for the house raising and log rolling, ready to go out himself and drag into the courthouse the desperado whom the sheriff feared to arrest.

Rough and tumble times these were in backwoods Tennessee, with rude and lawless elements boiling and bubbling in that inevitable period of unrest and struggle which prevails in border settlements before the community takes form and everybody smugly congratulates everybody else on the "reign of law and order."

In just such a state of society young Jackson was peculiarly fitted to lead, dominate and prosper.

Had he gone eastward instead of westward, had he cast in his lot with the lawyers that were striving for advancement in the cities of the original thirteen seaboard states, nothing is more certain than that the world would never have heard of him.

His lack of knowledge of the law would have made him easy prey to those who were masters of this profession. His fiery temper would have kept him constantly in battle array, and in fighting those lawyers who got the better of him in the citation of legal authorities he would, in the nature of things, have met the wrong man sooner or later.—Watson's Magazine.

Two Famous Kisses.

History has taken notice of some famous kisses. There was that which Queen Margaret gave to Alain Chartier over 300 years ago, the memory of which is fresh in the minds of men if not on their lips. Chartier was a poet, but he was the ugliest man personally in all "the sunny land of France." The queen, with her maids, one day found him asleep and, bending over him, kissed his dreaming lips. Turning to her maids, she prettily said: "I kiss not the man. I kiss the soul that sings."

Two centuries later Voltaire, another Frenchman and also a poet, was publicly kissed in the stage box of the theater by the young and lovely Countess de Villars, but in his case the lady gave the kiss not as a voluntary tribute to genius, but in obedience to the commands of the claque in the pit, who, mad with enthusiasm for the poet's "Merope," bade her kiss him.

Baited the Wrong Fish.

It happens sometimes that the cure is worse than the disease. It was in the case of the mother who tried to break her little Theodore of the habit of taking sweets off the sideboard. "We often have bonbons when there are guests to luncheon," she said, "and although Theodore promises not to touch them he always does."

"You might do as I did in the same circumstances," suggested the neighbor, smiling reminiscently.

"What did you do?"

"I carefully removed the inside filling from a chocolate drop and stuffed the shell with red pepper."

"Did it work?"

"It might have worked," replied the neighbor, "if Johnny had happened to spy it. As it was, I forgot all about it in the press of other matters, and at dinner time the guest of the evening got it."

Conscientious.

At a cricket match, Married versus Single, the former took first innings, and chiefly by the aid of some blind hits by one of the players, named Jones, made a score of 84. Just as the bachelors were about to commence their innings news of a local railway accident, in which some of the passengers had been killed, reached the field.

"I'm in a bit of a quandary," said Jones to the curate who had organized the match. "My missus was in that train."

"Dear me. I'm sorry to hear it," was the reply. "You are anxious to get away, of course?"

"Well, no, sir. It ain't that. I was only thinking if anything has happened to my Mary I ought to be playing for the single chaps."—London Queen.

THE PARIS POST.

A Misdirected Letter and a Tangle of Red Tape.

A young Englishwoman visiting in Paris received a note from a friend saying that tickets had been sent by an earlier post for a concert to take place that afternoon, but by error a wrong street number was written on the envelope. This, said her correspondent, might make a delay in the arrival of the letter, and it would be well to make inquiries at once at the post of the nearest division.

Arriving at the postoffice of our quarter, I made known my errand to three young gentlemen in succession. The last young gentleman took out a long paper and demanded peremptorily my name, age, address and birthplace. He was proceeding to that of my father and mother when I suggested that all this information, although doubtless of thrilling interest to the postoffice, could scarcely assist in restoring my lost letter, which contained tickets I must positively have before 1 o'clock that day.

"Ha! It is then of a letter lost!" he cried, as though suddenly illuminated.

"Well, misdirected, as I have already explained to three persons here."

"But it is not here where one brings the letters which find themselves badly directed. Those letters are united in another department of the great post. This document here"—he pointed to my biography—"the chief of my department will dispatch to the great post. One will make a communication to you as soon as traces of the letter are discovered."

It was 11:30 when I reached the great post, and I was sent to five different departments before arriving at the one for misdirected letters. Feeling both snubbed and ill used, I inquired whether before we proceeded to fill in more forms this monsieur would kindly tell me whether there was the remotest chance of recovering the letter that day before 2 o'clock.

"Today! This day itself!" he cried in shrill indignation. "Parbleu, but you imagine to yourself, then, madam, that the post conducts itself like an automobile!"

"I hoped that since my letter is here—actually here in this department—that one could place the hand on it in the course of two hours. In England," I continued, with a fine outburst of patriotism, "we have such a perfectly organized system that I should have the letter I required in ten minutes."

"Remind yourself that England is, after all, but an island. Here we are in France"—he threw back his head proudly—"and here things march not so quickly. It will perhaps be fifteen days before your case comes up. Each must proceed in turn."

"Then it is useless to go into the matter," I answered, and in deep depression turned away. — Exchange.

Stevens and Maynard.

Thaddeus Stevens was once opposed in debate by Horace Maynard of Tennessee. Maynard was very tall and straight and had long black hair, which he wore well down over his coat collar, and which gave him somewhat the appearance of an Indian. It was even rumored that he had some aboriginal blood in his veins. Maynard prided himself on his scholarly attainments, and at the close of his address he quoted one or two Latin verses. Old Thad replied to Maynard's argument in his usual vigorous manner and then paused for a few seconds until he had secured the attention of the entire house. Turning to Maynard, who sat some distance behind him, he delivered this parting shot: "So much for the gentleman's English. As to his Choctaw, I do not profess to understand it."

Mr. Stockton's Chickens.

When Frank Stockton started out with his Rudder Grange experiences he undertook to keep chickens. One old motherly Plymouth Rock brought out a brood late in the fall, and Stockton gave her a good deal of his attention. He named each of the chicks after some literary friend, among the rest Mary Mapes Dodge. Mrs. Dodge was visiting the farm some time later, and, happening to think of her namesake, she said:

"By the way, Frank, how does little Mary Mapes Dodge get along?"

"The funny thing about little Mary Mapes Dodge," said he, "is that she turns out to be Thomas Bailey Aldrich."—Everybody's.

Artistic Sensitiveness.

"Why are you so resentful toward that writer?"

"Because," answered Mr. Stormington Barnes, "he once said there were moments when my work did not realize the highest possible standard of excellence."

"Well?"

"My dear sir, I welcome criticism, but I cannot endure such ignorant abuse."—Washington Star.

AN EMERGENCY SPEECH.

t Soothed the Indians and Probably Saved General Gaines.

People often say very funny things in times of emergency. It was fortunate for the general whose conciliatory efforts are described in Mrs. Jefferson Davis' life of her husband, that the Indians with whom the men were dealing had no great sense of humor. Lieutenant Davis, then on the staff of General Gaines, had accompanied his superior officer to a conference with the chiefs of the Sac nation.

The council met in a tent. The warriors, decked with war paint and feathers, sat scowling and silent, their arms stacked near by. Seated with them was a dark old woman, shrunken to a mere skeleton, clothed in white woolen. She held herself with great majesty of mien.

The general began the council in a hesitating manner. He explained that it was necessary for the Indians to move on, for the white man must have the territory. At this the old squaw became greatly excited and began speaking with vehemence. She declared that the Sacs must die on their own hunting ground. The general showed considerable irritation at her tirade and spoke to the interpreter.

"Tell her—a—that—a—womaous not expected to interfere between the—a—white and Indian braves. She must be silent."

The squaw rose from her seat with great impressiveness and stretched her skinny arms above her head with a wild gesture.

"Does he say I am to be silent in the councils of my people? In these veins runs the blood of the last of the Sac kings. It is my right to speak."

The chiefs rose about her, stirred by her words, gesticulating angrily. It was plain that trouble was at hand, and the Indians far outnumbered the whites.

The general calmly listened until the speech was interpreted. Then he rose, with a sweep of the hand, to command silence.

"Mr. Interpreter," he said, "tell her—a—that—a—my mother was—a woman."

This revelation brought grunts of satisfaction from the Indians, and the frankness of the statement pleased the old princess. Order was restored, and the council proceeded with the business in hand.

A Costly Joke.

A woman of Bochum, says a Vienna dispatch, wishing to give her young nephew, living in a neighboring town, a pleasant surprise, bought a little tablet of chocolate and posted it to him in an envelope marked "Value $25,000." The package, on account of its high declared value, attracted the notice of the postal authorities, who demanded $4 extra fee on delivery. The nephew, suspecting a hoax, refused the letter, which was duly returned to Bochum and the sender advised. The woman, half ashamed, declared that the envelope contained nothing of real value, but it was pointed out to her that the contents, whatever they might be, were declared to be worth $25,000 and she must pay. The poor woman signed the receipt, but then was told, to her dismay, that a double fee had been incurred owing to the return of the letter. She paid $8 without further complaint.

Grafters Have Reached The End of Their Tether.

Schmitz and Ruef, who have been preying upon stricken San Francisco like two vultures ever since that unfortunate city was shattered by earthquake and consumed by fire. will now have to answer for their misdeeds before the bar of justice just like other criminals and their ghoulish occupation brought to an end.

These worthies, who have betrayed the trust of an unfortunate and too-confiding people, were indicted Thursday by a Grand Jury composed of nineteen leading citizens of that city. This brace of grafters, who have been levying tribute on the people of the metropolis for the past four years, have at last been snared and are now in the toils of the law. The indictment charges them with extortion on five different counts and the testimony against them cannot be successfully combatted by the rogues in any court of law. The indictiment, which will be followed by others, charges Schmitz and Ruef with extorting thousands of dollars from the French restaurant keepers of the tenderloin district previous to the fire and there can be no escape for them, as the evidence is clear, complete and convincing. Ruef was arrested and placed under a bond of $50,000. Mayor Schmitz, who has been hobnobbing with the nabobs of the Old World for several months, will arrive in New York to-day and will likewise be placed under arrest.

Verily, "the mills of the gods grind slowly, but they grind exceedingly small." At last, thank Heaven, the once proud metropolis of the Pacific, which for months has been lying prostrate at the feet of Schmitz and his gang of freebooters, is to be freed from the iron heel that has held her down and the plunderers brought to justice. The good people of San Francisco have turned the tables on Schmitz, Ruef, et al., and it will now be their turn to grovel at the feet of the honest, outraged citizens of the metropolis, led by the man of the hour, Mr. Rudolph Spreckles, who unafraid has placed a fortune at their disposal to bring to justice one the most fermidable organized band of looters that ever infested a municipality.

THE official count shows that Theo. Bell carried Sonoma county at the recent election by a plurality of 659 over Gillett. Republicans in this county seeking appointments under the new State administration, we take it, will have to explain to the satisfaction of Jim Gillett just how it came about that he was turned down by his own party in a county that gave all the other Republican nominees on the state ticket handsome majorities. Even then they will be apt to get it in the back of the neck.

"I didn't write it; I only copied it. I day I saw one chap who had ... tin ...

Impoverished Soil

Impoverished soil, like impoverished blood, needs a proper fertilizer. A chemist by analyzing the soil can tell you what fertilizer to use for different products.

If your blood is impoverished your doctor will tell you what you need to fertilize it and give it the rich, red corpuscles that are lacking in it. It may be you need a tonic, but more likely you need a concentrated fat food, and fat is the element lacking in your system.

with the Hot Blast Down-Draft will produce twice as much heat as any other. It is because the Down-Draft consumes all the fuel and the gases which arise from it, whereas in other heaters the gases, which constitute one-half the burnable part of the fuel, escape unburned up the chimney. You can start a fire in ten minutes and hold it for 36 hours.

Remember, it is fuel cost which counts.

The Wilson saves one-half your fuel bill.

Mrs. Tenny, the divorced wife of John M. Tenny, who was lately assassinated in Oakland, has been appointed administratrix of the estate of deceased by the Superior Court of Alameda county. It was decided by the court that the decree of divorce secured in this county some years ago by Mrs. Tenny was final and that she was not Tenny's widow and could not lay claim to his $5,300 estate. As custodian and guardian of their minor child, who will inherit the estate, Mrs. Tenny was granted letters of administration and she has entered upon ths discharge of her duties.

COUNTY OFFICIALS NAME DEPUTIES

Most of Those Re-Elected Will Retain Old Hands—Sheriff Smith's Appointments.

The newly-elected county officials for the most part have announced the names of those who will serve under them as deputies.

Sheriff-elect Jack Smith's force will consist of the following: John C. Ingalls of Healdsburg, under sheriff; Carl Flohr, Petaluma, jailor; W. D. Wiley of Green Valley and C. A. Reynolds of Santa Rosa, field deputies. The appointments were made with a view to the fitness of the appointees and will no doubt give general satisfaction.

County Clerk Fred. L. Wright will retain all his old deputies with the exception of Chief Deputy L. A. Pressley, who sent in his resignation some time ago to take effect January 1st, as he intends engaging in the abstract business. Ben F. Ballard will enter the office as a deputy but Mr. Pressley's position as chief deputy will be given to one of the old hands in the office. Mr. Ballard's selection will meet with general approval among Mr Wright's friends and the public at large as he is a thoroughly competent man.

Recorder Nagle will reappoint his present copyists and on January 1st his son, Walter Nagle, will enter the office and will temporarily fill the position of third copyist to which the Recorder is entitled under the law after that date.

Assessor Frank E. Dowd will retain his old office force and all his field deputies

De Witt Montgomery, the new School Superintendent, is considering the names of several applicants for a deputyship in his office, but as yet has not given out his choice.

District Attorney elect Lea has not as yet named his assistant. There is a wild scramble among the briefless lawyers in the county for the job.

County Surveyor Winkler will retain Mr. McNamara, who has so ably served as deputy under Mr. Smyth.

Tax Collector Collins, who will enter upon the discharge of his duties at the commencement of the new year, has selected T. Virgil Butts, son of attorney T. J. Butts, as his deputy.

SEQUEL TO BEATING WOMAN NEAR HERE

Policeman Parquet Loses His Star and is Now Sued for $5,000 Damages.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Reyburn of San Francisco have commenced suit in the Superior Court of that city against Edward F. Parquet for $5,000 damages. The suit is the outcome of a terrible beating Mrs. Reyburn suffered at the hands of Parquet, near this place one day last summer.

Parquet, who was a policeman of San Francisco, was spending a leave of absence here with his family. Mrs. Reyburn, who was a friend of the Parquets', was also temporarily sojourning here at one of our summer resorts. One day she was invited to go riding with the Parquets and while making the rounds of the valley the policeman, who is a big brawny chap, gave the little woman a terrible beating about the face and breasts. He was arrested here the day after the beating and was fined $20 by Judge Small.

Later Parquet was haled before the Police Commissioners of San Francisco, on complaint of the Reyburns, and the policeman's star was taken from him and he was dismissed from the force. Now comes the damage suit, which promises to be bitterly contested in the courts.

The Passing of James Hayden.

Jas. Hayden, who recently passed away at his home in San Rafael, was probably one of the best known men north of San Francisco. For twenty-five or thirty years he conducted the bar and restaurant privileges on the Tiburon boats from which he amassed a comfortable fortune. Mr. Hayden had large business dealings and in commercial circles his word was as good as his bond, being a man of the strictest business integrity. "Jimmy" Hayden, as he was known to the thousands who traveled over the California Northwestern boats, was generous almost to a fault and his many deeds of silent charity were known only to the recipients. He was a devoted husband, a kind father, a good friend and an honest man. With his passing Marin county, where he made his home for many years, loses an honest and upright business man and worthy citizen.

A Year of Blood.

The year of 1903 will long be remembered in the home of F. M. Tacket of Alliance, Ky., as a year of blood; which flowed so copiously from Mr. Tacket's lungs that death seemed very near. He writes: "Severe bleeding from the lungs and a frightful cough that had brought me to death's door when I began taking Dr King's New Discovery for Consumption, with the astonishing result that after taking four bottles I was completely restored and as time has proven permanently cured." J. O. HORNE DIES EN ROUTE EAST.

He Was a Man of Extravagant Tastes that Knew Not the Value of Money.

J. O. Horne, who leased the Maxwell place near here about five or six years ago, died one day this week while on his way east. Horne was a remittance man and a man of mystery. While here Mr. and Mrs. Horne, who appeared to have unlimited cash at their command, entertained with a lavish hand. Expensive wine flowed like water in the once staid old Maxwell home and for months the Hornes and a number of their new-found friends lived like nabobs and the generous host and hostess were considered the real thing in swelldom as emplified in this valley. However, one day the bubble burst. The Hornes had for a long time been living beyond their means and in order to keep up appearances had borrowed right and left from their new-formed friends to meet the bills which had been contracted for keeping up appearances. But even this tribute which they had levied upon their unsuspecting friends did not appease their creditors and one day the Sheriff came along and soon a red flag was fluttering in the breeze from the front porch of the Horne home, and everything in sight fell under the hammer and the meteoric career of the Hornes was at an end in this valley.

From here they went to Santa Rosa to live and for the several months they resided there they cut a wide swarth through that town, living more sumptuously there than even they had here. Then that remittance again failed the couple and Santa Rosa knew them no more.

The next heard of the Hornes was in Alameda county, where their extravagant tastes and failure to meet their business obligations again brought them into prominence.

The next heard of Mr. Horne was in Santa Cruz. This was about four years ago. After locating there his ruinous extravagance seems to have undergone a great change and he settled down to a consevative business life, and it is said when he died he left a valuable estate.

Mr. Horne was a whole-souled and generous hearted man whose principal fault appeared to be that he placed no value whatever upon money when he had the spendihg of it.

Birthday Party.

Miss Ramona Granice gave a party to her girl friends last Tuesday, the occasion being her twelfth birthday. Refreshments were served and the afternoon was taken up in playing games. Those present were Misses Bernice Small, Henrietta Weber, Nancy Bates, Helen Kerner, Gladys Simmons, Florence Green, Zolita Bates, Elizabeth Trudgen, Georgie Andrews, Ramona Granice and Joe McMullen.

Gaspipe Man Attacks Coon

The colored chef of the Alameda Gun Club, whose ark is moored off Sears Point, while taking a short vacation in San Francisco, one day this week, was attacked by a gaspipe man and severely cut about the head. The object was robbery but the thug was frightened off by the coon before he secured the coveted booty.

Boxing Contest To-Night.

The boxing contest between Cornelius and Doyle takes place at O'Rourke's pavilion to-night. A large number of sports from San Francisco, Santa Rosa and other near-by cities will take in the contest, which will be an exciting one.

There will be several preliminaries, among them being a five-round bout between two heavyweight coons from San Francisco and Vallejo. Two clever 145-pound boxers from San Francisco will also try conclusions and the one gaining the decision will challenge Emile Cornelius for a ten-round contest to be pulled off here.

Bonds Receive a Big Vote

The Supervisors counted the votes cast on election day for and against the Court House bond proposition, on Wednesday last, with the following result: For the bonds, 6,406; against, 2,263. The majority in favor of the bonds is a big one and speaks well for the civic pride of our people.

In Time of Peace

In the first few months of the Russia-Japan war we had a striking example of the necessity for preparation and the early advantage of those who, so to speak, "have shingled their roofs in dry weather." The virtue of preparation has made history and given to us our greatest men. The individual as well as the nation should be prepared for any emergency. Are you prepared to successfully combat the first cold you take? A cold can be cured much more quickly when treated as soon as it is contracted and before it has become settled in the system. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is famous for its cures of colds and it should be kept at hand ready for instant use.

ALL OVER THE HOUSE.

Concerning Kitchen Odors—How to Counteract Strong Smells.

A generous lump of soda placed in pots and pans in which fish, cabbage, onions and other strong smelling foods have been cooked will thoroughly cleanse and make them smell sweet and clean.

A teaspoonful of vinegar boiling on the stove will counteract the smell of strong food.

A few drops of sandalwood oil dropped on a hot shovel is a delightful deodorizer.

A sponge placed in a saucer of boiling hot water in which has been added a teaspoonful of oil of lavender gives a fragrance of violets to a room in which it is placed. Flies will not remain where the odor of oil of lavender is.

A stale crust of bread boiled with cabbage will absorb the disagreeable odor.

Setting the Table.

Lay the cloth even and straight.

Place the knives and spoons at the right of the plates with the handles just reaching the edge of the table, the knives nearest the plates, with the sharp edges toward them; the bowls of the spoons up.

Place the forks at the left with the tines up. On the right and at the point of the knife place the tumbler.

The napkin should be folded flat and placed at one side.

Dry Cleaning Laces.

To dry clean laces wash in either gasoline or naphtha. If all the dust and spots are not removed the first time clean them in the same way a second time, and repeat the process until they look like new. If possible do this cleansing out of doors, where there will be no danger of fire or of an explosion. Hang the pieces out of doors when cleaned, so the disagreeable odor that often lingers after dry cleaning will be done away with.

An Ironing Hint.

If your wax has given out and the starch sticks to the irons try kerosene. Put a little of the oil on a cloth and rub the hot iron over it a few times. This will keep the starch from sticking and removes any dirt that may have collected on the bottom or side of the irons, which often soils the garment. It will also give a gloss to the clothes. As so little oil is used, there is no danger.

Remedy For Dry Skin.

The following formula will not injure the skin, nor will it grow hair on the face. Do not use soap or water on the face. To cleanse the face use a cold cream. Cleanse at night and apply the following cream: Calomel, five grains; sulphur, five drams; oil of cade, one-half dram; rose ointment sufficient to make one ounce.—Boston Traveler.

To Remove Ink From Paper.

Ink can be removed from paper, if the stain is not too old, as follows: Take a teaspoonful of chlorinated lime and add just enough water to cover it; take a soft cloth, moisten it in the mixture and pat (do not rub) the stain gently, and it will slowly disappear. If one application is not sufficient try a second.

The Ideal Duster.

A soft chamois skin, not too large, soaked in cold water and then wrung out, is the ideal duster. It can be used on the finest woods, leaving a clear, bright surface. After every piece of furniture has been wiped with the moist chamois the rooms may be considered really "dusted."

Canker Sores.

What are known as "canker sores" occur very often with those troubled with indigestion, and a mixture of an ounce of pure honey, a dram of tincture of valerian and a quarter dram of powdered borax is a specific. Take a teaspoonful twice a day and rinse the mouth with alum water.

For Bad Breath.

For disagreeable breath use a mouth wash of two and one-half drams permanganate of potash in a pint of water. A few drops in a glass of water to rinse the teeth and mouth will usually destroy the odor. As this stains linen care must be taken to not spill it on the clothing.

Apple Tea.

To assuage thirst and cure feverishness apple tea is a notable sick drink. It is made by slicing raw apples into a jug, filling up the jug with boiling water, as in tea making, then sweetening to taste. When cold this apple tea will be found pleasantly tart and refreshing.

To Polish New Boots.

It is often very difficult to get new boots to polish brightly, but if rubbed over with a lemon and left till dry they will generally clean very easily. The process should be repeated if necessary.

HE TIPPED A CONGRESSMAN.

Warren F. Daniell, the wealthiest man in the vicinity of Franklin, N. H., is exceedingly democratic in manner. Some years ago he represented his district in congress. One day as Congressman Daniell was standing in one of the corridors of the capitol a New York millionaire, thinking he was an attache of the building, asked in rather a brusque manner to be directed to the room of a well known house leader. Congressman Daniell conducted him to the desired place, and as he was leaving the New Yorker pressed a twenty-five cent piece into his hand. Mr. Daniell noticed that a newspaper man had witnessed the transaction and, sliding over to him, said: "Don't give this away. That is the first money I have earned since I have been in congress." The next day the millionaire was in the visitors' gallery and saw Daniell occupying a seat in the house. After the session he hunted Mr. Daniell out, and the two took supper together at the New York man's expense.—Washington Post.

Commercial Panics.

Is it true that these great commercial panics recur at fairly regular intervals—as a rule once in every twenty years? Are periods of commercial distress and, therefore, the intervening periods of prosperity thus separated? The fact seems incontestable. Our country's record fixes the years 1837, 1857, 1873 and 1893 as the dates of our greater panics. England's record is 1825, 1841, 1866 and 1890. In each case the twenty year interval is preserved with reasonable accuracy. It will be observed that the "panic years" in England were not the same as in the United States. Our commercial distress of 1893 and 1873 reacted, no doubt, on London, as the acute foreign troubles of 1890 and 1866 recoiled on financial New York. But the result was never a panic of the first order in the market indirectly affected.—A. D. Noyes in Atlantic.

Be Charitable

to your horses as well as to yourself. You need not suffer from pains of any sort—your horse need not suffer. Try a bottle of Ballard's Snow Liniment. It cures all pains. J. M. Roberts, Bakersfield, Mo. writes, "I have used your liniment for ten years and find it the best I have ever used for man or beast."

A Thoughtful Officer.

Some years ago a battery of artillery was at gun practice at Bermuda. One of the guns, a thirty-eight ton, was found to have a serious flaw. The officer in charge, not caring to risk half a dozen valuable lives, inquired, "Sergeant, have we any time expired men here?" "Yes, sir," answered the sergeant. "John Jackson has just completed his time." "Well, then," replied the thoughtful officer, "John Jackson will fire the gun." And John Jackson did fire the gun, happily with no fatal result.

Sells More of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy than all Others Put Together.

The following letter from a locality where Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is well known shows by the unprecedented demand for it that the medicine sells on its own merit. Mr. Thos. George, a merchant at Mt. Elgin, Ontario, says: "I have had the local agency for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy ever since it was introduced into Canada, and I sell as much of it as I do of all other lines I have on my shelves all put together. Of the many dozens sold under guarantee, I have not had one bottle returned. I can personally recommend this medicine as I have used it myself and given it to my children and always with the best results."

Willing to Oblige.

A little cockney boy from one of the back slums in London was invited, with about thirty others, to a charity dinner given at the house of a lady in fashionable society. When dinner was over the lady asked the little ones to sing or recite in turn. All went well until it came to the little cockney lad's turn, but he made no sign of starting to sing or recite until the lady said, "Come, Tommy, let me hear you sing." After a moment's pause the young guest answered, "I can't, lidy." "What," said the lady, "you cannot sing? Then what can you do, Tommy?" "Well," said Tommy, "I aren't used to singing, but I'll do my best. I'll fight any of the other kids in the room."

There is no Reason why your baby should be thin and fretful during the night. Worms are the cause of thin, sickly babies. It is natural that a healthy baby should be fat and sleep well. If your baby does not retain its food, don't experiment with colic cures and other medicine, but try a bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge and you will soon see your baby have color and laugh as it should

RIGHTS UNDER A PATENT.

Each of the Three Constitutes a Separate Moncpoly.

To make, to use and to sell are the only ways in which an invention is capable of commercial enjoyment. The patentee can, if he wishes, sit down and not only not use the invention himself, but prevent others from making or using or selling the patented thing. If any one else makes, uses or sells the subject of the patent the courts will grant the patentee an injunction against further infringement and a recovery of the profits made.

Each of these three rights—to make, to use and to sell—is a separate monopoly and may, by proper instruments, be granted or sold separately. For instance, a patentee of a machine could grant to a manufacturer the exclusive right to make the machines for him (of course under proper restrictions as to price, etc.), and the manufacturer would be an infringer if he used the machines or sold them to others. The patentee could then grant to a jobber the exclusive right to sell the machines (reserving proper compensation to himself, such as a percentage of the profits), and the jobber would be an infringer if he either made or used the machine. The exclusive right to use the machines could then be granted to a given consumer, who in turn would have no right to make or sell the machines.

The exclusive right to use an invention for each of several given purposes can be separately sold. For instance, a patentee of a process for making watch dials not only sold the exclusive right to make watch dials by that process, but he also sold to a separate company the exclusive right to use the process in making enameled signs under the same patent. The watch manufacturer would have been an infringer if he had made signs and, vice versa, the sign manufacturer would have been restrained from making watch dials.

A process of drying gunpowder was found to be applicable to drying breakfast foods, and the owners, after getting all they had ever looked for from the patent from the gunpowder rights, reaped a second and unexpected harvest from the sale of the rights for breakfast foods. The rights under a patent for a machine can be divided in the same way.—Edwin J. Prindle in Engineering Magazine.

Always Was Sick.

When a man says he always was sick—troubled with a cough that lasted all winter—what would you think if he should say—he never was sick since useing Ballard's Horehound Syrup. Such a man exists.

Mr. J. C. Clark, Denver, Colorado writes: "For years I was troubled with a severe cough that would last all winter. This cough would leave me in a miserable condition. I tried Ballards Horehound Syrup and have not had a sick day since. That's what it did for me." For sale at Simmons Drug Store.

Chemistry, Practical and Theoretical.

"Young gentlemen," said the lecturer in chemistry, "coal exposed to the elements loses 10 per cent of its weight and heating power. This is due to the action of the alkali constituents of"—

"But what if there is a dog sleeping near the coal, professor?"

"None of your levity, young man. This is a serious matter."

"That's what father thought when 72 per cent of his coal pile disappeared during three nights of exposure. Then he asked my advice as a student of chemistry, and I told him to buy a dog. He bought a dog with bay window teeth and the stringhalt in his upper lip, and now we don't lose 1 per cent of our coal a month. That's the kind of a practical chemist I am. Now go on with your theory."

Look out for that "rainy day"!

It comes sooner or later for so many—we can't tell to-day who may want on the morrow.

Prepare now while you are able for any misfortune that may overtake you. Don't run any risks.

Here is something that will help you provide for the rainy day—an investment that carries with it unusual benefits and proves its value from the minute you buy the stock.

Smith's Cash Store is well and favorably known all over the West. Its reputation is of the best and in volume of business it is making tremendous strides forward every year. Some five years ago the stock was selling for $5.00 a share. To-day the price is $10.00 a share. These figures demonstrate what a thriving institution is this biggest Mail Order House on the Pacific Coast.

Each share of stock is guaranteed to earn 6 per cent a year. But the greatest benefit is derived by the stockholder from the discounts given to the holders of five or more shares of stock. You can buy anything to eat, use or wear at the same price the goods would cost your local dealers. We call them "Owner's Prices."

Suppose you buy goods that altogether cost $50 at our wholesale rate. If you are a stockholder you get a discount amounting to $2.50, and your bill is only $47.50. The saving you will make in one year in addition to the earnings will in all probability more than cover the investment.

Year after year you will be effecting big savings. But should hard times knock at your door—and you must not be too sure that something of that sort will not happen—think what it will mean to you to be able to buy everything at cost prices. It might be the very thing that would help you to survive the period of distress.

We are increasing the amount of our capital stock. We are telling you about the stock because we think you ought to invest for your own sake. You couldn't buy stock in anyother concern that would pay you so well.

It will not be long before the price of the stock is advanced. You know that means there are not many days remaining in which you can take advantage of this great offer.

For your convenience we are printing a coupon which you ought to fill out—it does not obligate you in any way. Send it at once.
